Nowadays education plays very important role in the life of modern people. It would be very hard for you to get a good job without a good education. And the ^{or} people who help us to get one, are our school teachers. But not all of the teachers are familiar. They all have different personal qualities and teaching style. So that's why the question is "What are the most important qualities of a good teacher?"

As far as I think, the ^{so} most important qualities of a good teacher are kindness, love for children, responsibility and high qualification. I think that if a person decides to become a teacher he must understand ¹¹⁰ that this job includes a lot of working with children. And without attraction ^{lex.} to them you will never succeed ^{exp.} it. Without professionalism you ~~will~~ won't be able to give children correct knowledge and information. Each teacher ~~must~~ must be very patient as this job needs to give a lot effort and time.

The job of a teacher is one of the most important in our world. They are doing a really ¹⁸⁰ great job helping children to find their place in this huge world. Without good, highly-qualified and sensitive teachers our society won't be able to exist.
