Too Many Toys?

Toys are an important part of childhood. However, should children have a lot of toys or it's better for them to have a lot of friends?

There are some advantages and disadvantages of having many toys. ~~It~~ Children who have many toys in childhood become more generous and reliable. If they have special toys, they could develop their knowledge, but sometimes when kids have a lot of toys they might think that they are better than others and they will have terrible behavior. In fact, childrens' behavior don't depend on toys. Usually parents buy a lot of toys for their children and it doesn't mean they will be bad people. As for me, I have a little sister and she has many toys, but she is really kind and helpful, so I believe it doesn't matter how many toys you have, but of course there are some situations when parents buy too ~~much~~ many toys for their kids. In these situations children should understand how difficult it was for their parents to earn money for these toys.

I'd recomend parents to buy as many toys as their kids need. To have many toys is always good for children, but it isn't always good for their behavior.
