The Importance of Convenient Location

Last summer I stayed in a holiday house with my family during our trip to Thailand. It was a rather small and simple house but I found my stay there very enjoyable.

The holiday house's main benefit was its location. The house was close to the beach so we could swim in the sea without having to go far or take much belongings. The water level of the sea changes depending on the phase of the Moon so it was very interesting to see how one day you have to walk on sand for a long time to reach the sea and two days later the sand is fully covered in water. Moreover, the holiday house was not far from the town's main shopping centres so after swimming in the sea we could enjoy some time shopping. We were lucky to be in Thailand on the Thailand King of Thailand's birthday. This day is considered a national holiday in Thailand and many shops were beautifully decorated. There were some disadvantages when staying in the holiday house like having to clean it yourself but they didn't affect our stay much.

Overall I really enjoyed my stay in the holiday house. I think it's best to choose the place where you stay when travelling by the location and what activities you enjoy. If you are planning to visit Thailand I would recommend going to the beach as Thailand's beaches are usually clean and beautiful.
