Writing

1+ Hello. I saw an announcement on an English-language website about interesting articles, so here is mine.

I started learning English when I was five years old and since then I loved it with all my heart. At first it was my mums decision to get me into English, but now I am the one asking to pay for my education.

The thing I love about English is that it's easy for me to learn it. I have a really good teacher who has been teaching me English for the past seven years. Also I really love how smooth English sounds and different accents are very interesting, but for me British accent is the best one.

My advice for people who are starting to learn English is that they should not just learn it, but enjoy it. The thing that I do to improve my English is listening to English music a lot and watching films or just videos in English. It's my way to enjoy English.
